DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

This year's director's message is being written from my home as the world has been turned upside down amid a global pandemic. I cannot imagine there is anyone fortunate enough to be unaware or unaffected by the Coronavirus or the illness it causes, COVID-19. As I write this year's director's message, I have been working remotely for nearly two months with an unknown and uncertain date of return.

Despite the overwhelming pre-draw optimism I was experiencing when I wrote the director's message last year, I went unsuccessful in the draw and was again forced to live vicariously through more fortunate friends and family. This year is different for a lot of reasons. I am growing increasingly anxious to get outside and have an adventure. I am watching my precious supply of lean organic wild harvested meat shrink to the point of concern. I am feeling a greater sense of appreciation for Mother Earth's bounty along with feeling a greater connection and greater respect for animals with whom we share our planet and great state.

More than ever I feel a deep and genuine need to experience the little things that are such integral reminders of our outdoor experiences. I truly yearn for a chance to pour over maps and study Google Earth imagery, sit around a campfire, skip a rock on a lake or reservoir, climb into a sleeping bag with sore feet and tired legs after a tough hunt or pack out, and to share it all with family and friends. No matter how old I get or how much this crazy world changes, I hope I always live fully and never lose touch with the sights, sounds, and smells of the outdoors.

The year 2020 will forever be remembered for a lot of things. The global pandemic is affecting us all in different ways. History will contain a lot of different tales regarding this event, many will be sad, and some will be faceless yet filled with statistics. It will be remembered as the year the NBA, NHL, and MLB shortened or cancelled their seasons. It will be the year the NCAA March Madness was cancelled, and all schools were closed. Let us hope 2020 will also be remembered as a turning point at which there existed broader recognition and appreciation for the food security benefits of wild and sustainably harvested fish and game. Let us also hope that through our free-time aided nostalgic reflections of our past wildlife related experiences or our free-time aided contemplation of our future wildlife related experiences, we realize how truly blessed we are to live among wild, free roaming, native North American wildlife. It is truly our deep connection to these animals through our experiences with them that fosters our respect for them. It is our respect for them that fuels our desire to protect them. Our connection, respect, and protection of the very same animals we pursue and harvest can be difficult to explain to nonhunters. During a global pandemic with potential food shortages, meat scarcity, and general uncertainty, it gets a little easier.

If you're a hunter, I hope that by the time you are reading this message both you and I will be excitedly contemplating our future wildlife related experiences and how we have a chance to fill our freezer as we have learned that we drew a Nevada big game tag. In the unfortunate event you didn't draw a tag, I hope you will find solace in knowing that despite the misfortune of not drawing a tag you are still contributing to wildlife management in Nevada and through your contributions you are paying for scientific-based management that will keep wildlife abundant and available to perpetuate sustainable wild harvest, feed people and their friends and family, and ultimately you are funding conservation.

Thank you very much for contributing to Nevada's wildlife management, best of luck on your outdoor adventures, and no matter what, live fully and never lose touch.

Sincerely,

Tony Wasley

THE TRUE VALUE OF WILD HARVEST

By Bobby Jones
Outdoor Connection Coordinator, Nevada Department of Wildlife

We live in a modern, fast-paced country that never slows down, until it does. For most of us, that slowdown occurred in mid-March 2020. Going to the grocery store and seeing several aisles of near empty shelves was shocking, and eerily unsettling. Fortunately, most items were back on the shelves relatively quickly, but seeing empty shelves at the grocery store, even once, can be a hard image to forget. For many of us, having a freezer full of wild harvested fish and game meat available to share with family and friends is a huge comfort, something we may have taken for granted before March 2020. Food security through wild harvested foods is a luxury most people in other parts of the world do not have, but this level of food security is not an accident, it's by design.

The luxury I am referring to is not just having a freezer full of the highest quality, organic food available to share with family and friends. It's also knowing that once that meat is consumed and gone, the freezer can be refilled, year after year, albeit at a price. Each spring most of us will buy a license, apply for tags, purchase tags (if we are fortunate enough to draw them) and buy a few new pieces of hunting or fishing equipment. It is a cost, but it is also an investment. All of the money spent on licenses and tags goes to our state wildlife agency where it may help pay for a game warden's salary, fund wildfire restoration, pay for hunter education, or even fund a bighorn sheep reintroduction. Regardless, the money will be used to help conserve, manage, and restore the wildlife resources we care about. As for the new hunting and fishing equipment purchased each year, a portion of that money finds its way back to wildlife too. This is done through federal excise taxes on guns, ammunition, archery equipment and fishing equipment that is collected by the federal government and redistributed to state fish and wildlife management agencies. It's this cycling of money from the user, to state wildlife agencies where its spent-on wildlife conservation that ultimately conserves wildlife resources, affording us the ability to bolster our food supply and food security while also creating and maintaining future hunting and fishing opportunities.

The user-contributed funding essentially foots the bill to make sure wildlife is conserved, but it hasn't always been this way. In the early 1900's, many of the wildlife species that call North America home were in dire straits. The wild west had been tamed, exploited, and many wildlife species we would deem relatively common by today's standards would have been at the top of the Endangered Species List (if it had existed at that time). Market hunting for food and hides without regulated hunting seasons or bag limits had pushed many species to the brink. Fortunately, hunters of the day realized the urgency of the situation and were looking for opportunities to distinctly set themselves apart from Europe and the kings' deer mentality. Through the passing of several legislative acts pushed forward by these early conservationists, market hunting was outlawed, and the ownership and responsibility of wildlife was bestowed upon the American people.

"Being able to get groceries from nature, sustainably, is yet another affirmation that our system works."

Along with enacting legislation, trailblazers like George Bird Grinnell and President Theodore Roosevelt founded the first wildlife-centric conservation organizations including the Audubon Society and the Boone and Crockett Club. These hunters and others like them helped influence an entire generation of Americans to value the conservation of wildlife and wild places. I do not exactly fashion myself after anyone from that era, but I certainly appreciate what they've done for us. Backpack archery hunting in the Jarbidge wilderness, eating freshly caught trout from a small alpine lake in the Ruby's, and hunting chukar in any number of mountain ranges isn't something anyone would be able to do without this chapter of American history.

For many of us, going to these wild places and hunting with our friends and family is what we look forward to most each year. Imagining what kind of people we would be without these trips and experiences isn't difficult, it's impossible. What we learn and what we experience while hunting often cannot be replaced. Hunting is where most of us learn mental toughness as we tackle how to navigate obstacles, overcome unique challenges, and push ourselves further than we ever would in our day-to-day lives. After a hunting trip we come home physically exhausted, but mentally reinvigorated. We are grateful for the animal and the pursuit, appreciative for the food (if we come back with meat) and we constantly cycle through memories of the trip before planning our next adventure.

These are just a few of the reasons why we are excited to pick up a rod, bow, or rifle before racing out the door but, explaining that "why" to someone else can be difficult. If you are like me, it can be one of the hardest things to explain without appearing offensive or insensitive to other's perspective.

My perspective and connection to wildlife as a consumable food started at a very young age. For as long as I can remember my uncle has run a small wild game meat processing business. Helping him butcher and package game on top of having it for dinner every other night has framed the way I see the world. I feel fortunate to have gained that perspective so early in life. Many of my friends and neighbors can't conceive butchering an animal or know the first thing about hunting, fishing or even camping and that's perfectly okay. I cannot expect that everyone has been afforded the same opportunities and experiences that I have, that's life, but if you told me to put myself in my neighbors' shoes, I'd be uncomfortable. Imagine if the only place you knew you could get food from was the grocery store. How would you have felt over the past few months?

Sustainable wildlife harvest that provides healthy food to millions of people that rely on it to feed their families is the envy of the world, but simply our way of life here. While I cannot speak for millions of people, I can speak for myself. It is one thing for me to fill my freezer with fish, big game, and upland game that I have harvested and processed throughout the year. It is entirely something more to share that food with my friends and family, and I know many of you feel the same way. Long before I ever started hunting, I fished as much as I could and when I found out how much my great aunt enjoyed "pan-sized trout" I always made sure she had some in her freezer.

Sharing fish and wild game is not new, it is in our blood, it is part of what makes us human. So please share your harvest and if nothing else be thankful we live in a place where any person can get at least some of their food from wild places that are not completely reliant on the global supply chain.

NEVADA BIG GAME SEASONS AND QUOTAS

LIMITS AND HOURS

The limit is one animal per tag and the hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset for all big game hunts, unless otherwise specified. New hunts, dates or units added to a hunt in 2020 are marked in bold italics.

PLEASE NOTE: Additional access may be available through private lands. Please visit the "Incentive and Compensation Maps" page on the NDOW website (ndow.org) for more information.

HELICOPTER OVERFLIGHTS AND YOUR HUNT

Helicopter surveys may be conducted during hunting seasons. The monitoring flights are timed to occur during the most effective months of the year to check on important parameters including ratio of bucks to does, ram recruitment or calf production. While we try to avoid surveys during open hunting seasons, sometimes it cannot be avoided. We apologize for any disturbance this may cause and will try to limit this activity during your hunt.

NEVADA MULE DEER HUNTS

RESIDENT

JUNIOR MULE DEER HUNTS

ANTLERED OR ANTLERLESS

Junior youth tag holders can harvest an antlered or antlerless deer. This tag allows the junior hunter to hunt during the archery season when the unit is open for archery only; to hunt with a muzzleloader when the unit is open for muzzleloader only; and to hunt with any legal weapon when the unit is open for any legal weapon. If a junior hunt applicant is unsuccessful in drawing a tag, bonus points will be awarded for the junior hunt.

Note: Any bonus points accrued in the junior hunt will automatically transfer to the antlered deer category at the time the junior hunter becomes ineligible for the junior hunt by either age, or after 5 years of application for the junior hunt.

Junior youth must be 12 years old prior to the opening of each hunt choice applied for (usually Archery), and will not attain their 18th birthday until after the last day of the last season applied for (usually Any Legal Weapon). An eligible junior hunter may apply no more than 5 years.

NEVADA OUTFITTERS AND GUIDES ASSOCIATION

While there are many good guides, outfitters and hunting professionals out there, hunting with an active member of a state or national professional hunting association can go a long way to insuring an enjoyable hunting experience.

WHY?

Legal – By hunting with an association member, hunters are assured of hunting with a properly licensed and registered guide or outfitter.

Ethical – Members of SCI affiliated professional hunting associations are bound by a Code of Conduct based upon local laws, regulations and customs.

Qualified – Many associations have stringent requirements for membership, more stringent than simple licensing and registration.

Experienced – Active association members tend to have more time in the professional hunting industry, often years of hunting familiar areas or concessions.

Knowledgeable – Through their associations, members can more easily stay current on local and national laws and requirements.

Responsible – Not only do association members tend to run more reputable operations, they are often more deeply involved in good stewardship of the resources.

Accountable – Professional hunting associations police their own, holding their members accountable for professional and ethical behavior. Protect yourself.

Stewardship – Members of professional hunting associations are responsible stewards of both the resource and the habitat insuring hunting today....and tomorrow.

ATTENTION: MOUNTAIN LION HUNTERS

The Nevada Department of Wildlife is requesting that hunters allow for the removal and retention of one premolar tooth from each harvested mountain lion when presenting the skull and hide to NDOW for sealing. Please present the skull, unfrozen, or with the mouth fixed open. The premolar tooth will be used to accurately age harvested mountain lions. NDOW is also asking that a one-inch-square piece of tongue, or other muscle tissue from each lion to be turned in at the same time for future DNA testing.

Teeth and skulls can be presented at any NDOW regional office. Please call first to confirm biologist availability.

DID YOU KNOW:

Since 1939, excise taxes collected from hunters and anglers have contributed nearly $30 billion in real funding for state-based conservation.

CONNECT, RESPECT AND PROTECT THE WILDLIFE CONSERVATION PATHWAY

By Doug Nielsen

Despite the cold temperature, I could still feel the sweat trickle down the sides of my face as I weaved my way through thick willows and knee-deep snow.

Step. Pull. Step. Pull. The rhythm was steady, though I did have to stop every few minutes to catch my breath. Thankfully, it is much easier to slide a deer on snow than it is to drag one over dry ground. Easier on the harvested game animal, and easier on the hunter. Being a young college student didn't hurt either.

The work was hard, but the challenge was worth it. Our grocery budget was small and harvesting that deer meant there would be meat in the freezer for my wife and two young kids. Many years have since passed, but that moment in time still has a unique place among my memories.

So too does the memory of the first time I heard a bird fly. At the time, I was sitting on a ridge scanning the opposite hillside with binoculars. Suddenly I heard the unmistakable sound of rushing wind. As seconds passed, the sound grew steadily louder, but I couldn't identify its origins until a bird flew low overhead. As she flew into the distance that sound faded, but it was not to be forgotten.

Though we are not as dependent on hunting for survival as we once were, the hunting tradition continues to provide the average person with an avenue for connecting with wildlife and the natural world in a way that cannot be imitated or duplicated. That connection first occurs when a hunter begins to invest time in learning about habitat needs and animal behavior. And it grows stronger over time and through experience.

As a hunter spends time in the field, he can't help but learn about and develop respect for all wildlife species, not only those he pursues as a predator. Each one has its own unique needs, behavioral traits and role in the natural community.

Consider the golden eagle, for example. It can be seen throughout the Silver State, and with a wingspan capable of spanning six to seven feet, the golden eagle is one of the largest birds in North America. Though it primarily hunts small animals such as rabbits or squirrels, I have witnessed one of these deceptively agile raptors take down a mule deer.

When our thoughts turn to mule deer, one cannot help but be amazed by their ability to detect the slightest movement or sound. Their large ears, from which they get their name, can be moved independently and are almost like a personal radar system that enables a deer to gather intelligence from all directions. They might be looking in your direction but listening to what is going on behind them.

Perhaps one of the most amazing things about mule deer is their seasonal migrations that take them from lush summer range in the high country to their winter range at lower elevations and back again when the seasons change. This seasonal movement allows them to take advantage of the best forage available at certain times of the year.

A migrating mule deer can move up to 150 miles or more through multiple obstacles both natural and manmade, but there is one well known doe whose annual migration is nearly 250 miles in each direction. Much further than other deer that share the same migration corridor. She is known as Deer 255, and biologists have followed her seasonal movements since 2016 when she was outfitted with a GPS collar.

One cannot help but have respect for that annual accomplishment.

When we gain a respect for something, we tend to protect it. Nowhere is that more evident than in the hunting community. Sportsmen are the original conservationists with a history that stretches back to the turn of the last century, a time when America's wildlife populations were struggling.

"There were few laws protecting fish and wildlife, and our wildlife resources took a heavy blow. Some species, like the passenger pigeon, were taken to the point of no return; others such as bison, white-tailed deer and wild turkeys, were pushed to the edge of extinction," wrote Brent Lawrence of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Leaders in the hunting and angling community responded by pushing for the creation of laws to protect wildlife and their habitat and promoted the idea that the wildlife resource to everyone and not only the privileged few. They knew then that the only way to ensure that future generations could enjoy wildlife was to protect it through conservation.

President Theodore Roosevelt, an avid hunter-conservationist, said, "There is a delight in the hardy life of the open. There are no words that can tell the hidden spirit of the wilderness that can reveal its mystery, its melancholy and its charm. The nation behaves well if it treats the natural resources as assets which it must turn over to the next generation increased and not impaired in value."

PARTNERSHIP IN WILDLIFE (PIW)

(Refer to CR 20-06)

Partnership In Wildlife (PIW) is a voluntary and optional participation program that offers unique hunting opportunities for a few state-wide big game tags. A person with a PIW tag may hunt with an authorized weapon in any unit with an open season for the species listed on the tag during the season dates when that unit is open for that species and weapon class.

APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Applicants who are eligible and apply for hunts in the big game main draw can also apply for PIW hunts for antlered deer, antelope horns longer than ears, Nelson (desert) bighorn sheep ram, antlered elk, and California bighorn sheep ram. The PIW application fee is an additional $10 for each species, which is deposited into the Wildlife Heritage Trust Account.

FUNDS BENEFIT WILDLIFE HERITAGE TRUST

The funds raised through PIW applications are placed in the Wildlife Heritage Trust Account. Nevada statute allows 75% of the money deposited into this account and 100% of the interest earned on the account during the previous year to be used by the Department for the protection, propagation, restoration, translocation, introduction, and management of any game fish, bird, or mammal and the management and control of predatory wildlife in the state. The Nevada Board of Wildlife Commissioners are responsible for reviewing and approving expenditures from this account.

Every year a number of wildlife management projects are funded by the Wildlife Heritage Trust account. PIW promises to benefit Nevada's wildlife by providing financial support to the Wildlife Heritage Trust account and the sportsmen and women who support Nevada wildlife by providing additional, unique hunting opportunities that would not otherwise be available in the state.

NONRESIDENT GUIDED HUNT DEER TAGS

There are 101 licensed master guides in Nevada that provide guide services for big game, game birds, game fish and unprotected wildlife. Different hunters often desire to hire a guide for different reasons, ranging from a novice hunter who is a little uncomfortable with trekking into the remote Nevada outback, to an experienced hunter, who draws the tag of a lifetime, like a desert bighorn or bull elk tag.

When booking a guided hunt be sure that the master guide you hire is licensed to provide guide services in Nevada and be sure that you are provided with a contract before services are provided. If you are a nonresident of Nevada you may participate in the nonresident restricted guided deer draw, a program that allots a number of tags specifically for a guided deer hunt.

BOW CHARACTERISTICS

A bow must have a peak draw weight of at least 40 pounds and, if the bow is a compound bow, a let-off of not more than 80 percent.

Legal hunting arrows must have a broadhead attached, be 24 inches in length from the end of the nock to the tip of the broadhead and have a 300 grain minimum weight. An arrow that is used in hunting any game mammal or

ARCHERY DISABILITY PERMIT

A person with a permanent physical disability can now qualify for a permit that authorizes them to use a crossbow or a bow that uses a mechanical device that can anchor a nocked arrow at full draw or partial full draw during an archery hunt.

As used for this permit, "permanent disability" means a disability which prohibits a person from manually drawing and holding a legal bow at full draw. Contact your local NDOW office for more information.

(Refer to NRS 503.165)

CHRONIC WASTING DISEASE

Please do your part to help keep Nevada free of Chronic Wasting Disease.

It is now illegal (2019 SB85) to bring a big game carcass into Nevada from another state unless it's been cleaned and is completely free of the spinal column and brain tissue.

Acceptable to transport: Meat, quarters with leg bones, skull-capped antlers and horns, capes and skins, taxidermy mounts, teeth. Intact skulls are allowed only if they've been boiled, beetle-stripped, or otherwise completely cleaned of brain tissue.

HUNTERS MUST RESPECT PRIVATE PROPERTY

Every year the Nevada Department of Wildlife (NDOW) receives reports of hunters trespassing, damaging private property and even releasing livestock from fences. Nevada is more than eighty percent public land, almost all of it open to hunting, but some sportsmen still mistakenly enter private property and should be more careful about trespassing.

"Every year we receive reports of trespassing and private property damage," said Mike Maynard, chief game warden for NDOW.

"Most of these problems could be avoided if people would use a little common sense when they're hunting or recreating outdoors."

The Nevada Department of Wildlife wants to remind everyone that hunting on someone else's land is a privilege, not a right. Remember common courtesy can go a long way toward establishing good hunter-land-owner relations in the future. Refer to NRS 207.200 for more information.

TIPS TO USE WHEN HUNTING ON PRIVATE PROPERTY:

- Access to and across private lands is a privilege granted by the landowner. Not all roads are public roads. Traveling on private roads without permission to access other lands is akin to someone walking through your house to reach a neighbor's home.
- Bring a good map showing private and public land ownership. Know where you are. Internet map sources may not be very accurate and there may be no cell service in rural areas.
- Build good relationships with land owners by asking permission.
- Leave gates the way you find them and make sure everyone in your party knows that. If a rancher wants a gate left open, it will be hung back on the fence, not lying on the ground.
- Leave the land better than you find it – pick up all trash you find and take it with you.
- Camp away from water sources for the benefit of wildlife and livestock.
- Report hunter misconduct. Misbehaving hunters jeopardize the use of resources for all hunters.
- Stay on existing roads.
- When granted access, bring only the number of hunters expected by your host.
- Respect locked gates, no trespassing signs and orange-painted gate posts. They all mean stay out.
- Do not attempt to remove or relocate livestock or wildlife.
- Send a thank you note.

TRESPASS DEFINITION

It is considered trespassing if a person willfully goes on or remains on any land after having been warned by the owner or occupant not to trespass. This "warning" can include the following:

- Painting with fluorescent orange paint on the following:
 - » A structure or natural object or the top 12 inches of a post, at intervals of such a distance as is necessary to ensure that at it is within the direct line of sight of a person standing next to another such structure, natural object or post.
 - » Each side of all gates, cattle guards and openings that are designed to allow human ingress to the area;
- Fencing the area;
- Posting "no trespassing" signs or other notice of like meaning at intervals of such a distance as is necessary to ensure that at least one such sign would be within the direct line of sight of a person standing next to another such sign, and each corner of the land.
- Using the area as cultivated land. "Cultivated land" means land that has been cleared of its natural vegetation and is presently planted with a crop.

THE FOLLOWING AREAS ARE CLOSED TO ALL HUNTING

CRIMINAL PENALTY PROVISIONS

Can be prosecuted as a FELONY for a person who intentionally kills or aids and abet another person to kill a bighorn sheep, black bear, elk, deer, moose, mountain goat, mountain lion or pronghorn antelope if you:

1. Hunt outside the prescribed season;
2. Use an aircraft or helicopter;
3. Use a method other than what is listed on the tag;
4. Outside the prescribed time;
5. Without a valid tag;
6. Use a tag of another;
7. Outside the prescribed unit(s); or
8. The tag was obtained by a false or fraudulent representation.

Exceptions:

1. The killing of the animal is necessary to protect the life or property of any person in imminent danger of being attacked by the animal; or
2. The animal killed was not the intended target of the person who killed the animal if you notify the Department as soon as possible about the accidental kill.

If you know or should have known an above animal was killed unlawfully and you possess said animal it is a GROSS MISDEMEANOR OFFENSE. (Refer to NRS 501.376)

UNLAWFUL ACTS; CRIMINAL PENALTIES

Except as otherwise provided by specific statute:

1. Any person who:
 - (a) Performs an act or attempts to perform an act made unlawful or prohibited by a provision of this title;
 - (b) Willfully fails to perform an act required of him by a provision of this title;

COMMON VIOLATIONS

The vast majority of hunters, trappers and anglers do their best to abide by the wildlife laws and regulations. For those people who fail to follow the law, convictions of wildlife law may carry serious penalties, including criminal fines up to $5,000, jail, civil penalties up to $30,000, loss of equipment and lost license privileges.

The following are a list of the eight most common violations in the field. Check twice, take due care, and you can avoid unnecessary citations, costly fines and loss of equipment and hunting privileges.

If you make a mistake — for example shooting a spike, or small forked-horn deer instead of an antlerless deer — report it immediately to the local game warden or Operation Game Thief (OGT) at 1-800-992-3030. Follow any instructions that are provided to you and wait for the warden to arrive. Taking the opposite approach, such as hiding or wasting game, will carry much more serious consequences.

1. Hunting Outside Unit Area Designated on Tag

Double-check the hunt area/unit designated on your tag, and review the boundary unit descriptions on the reverse of the Department's Big Game Boundary Unit Reference Map. Purchase detailed reference maps. Know where you are. This is a misdemeanor offense, but if an animal is killed, it can escalate to a felony.

2. Loaded Rifle or Shotgun In/On Vehicle

Nevada law prohibits carrying loaded rifles and shotguns in or on vehicles, including ATVs, motorcycles, snowmobiles, etc. After hunting on foot, unload the gun before placing it in or on the vehicle. This is a misdemeanor offense.

- (c) Obstructs, hinders, delays or otherwise interferes with any officer, employee or agent of the Department in the performance of any duty while enforcing or attempting to enforce any provision of this title;
- (d) Violates any order issued or regulation adopted by the Commission under the provisions of this title; or
- (e) Having been granted a privilege or been licensed or permitted to do any act under the provisions of this title, exercises the grant, license or permit in a manner other than as specified, is guilty of a misdemeanor. An officer, employee or agent of the Department may not obtain or attempt to obtain biological samples of wildlife, hunting, fishing or trapping data, or any other biological data or information relating to wildlife on private property without the consent of the owner of the property.

2. Every person who is guilty of a misdemeanor under this title shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500, or by imprisonment in county jail for not more than 6 months, or by both fine and imprisonment. (Refer to NRS 501.385)

FORFEITURES

Any gun, ammunition, trap, snare, vessel, vehicle, aircraft or other device or equipment used, or intended for use:

1. To facilitate the unlawful and intentional killing or possession of any big game mammal; or
2. To hunt or kill a big game mammal by using information obtained as a result of the commission of an act prohibited by NRS 503.010 or a regulation of the Commission which prohibits the location of big game mammals for the purpose of hunting or killing by the use of:
 - (a) An aircraft, including, without limitation, any device that is used for navigation of, or flight in, the air;
 - (b) A hot air balloon or any other device that is lighter than air; or
 - (c) A satellite or any other device that orbits the earth and is equipped to produce images, or other similar devices; or
3. Knowingly transport, sell, receive, acquire or purchase any big game mammal which is unlawfully killed or possessed, is subject to forfeiture pursuant to NRS 179.1156 to 179.119 inclusive.

(Refer to NRS 501.3857)

3. Using Tag of Another

This is a surprisingly common violation. Only the person named on the tag may use or possess the tag. This violation is considered a felony offense if an animal is harvested.

4. License and Tag Fraud

Providing false information (for example, claiming to be a Nevada resident, using a false date of birth, or fictitious name, etc.) to obtain a license is a misdemeanor. Providing false information to obtain a big game tag is a gross misdemeanor, and killing a big game mammal with such a tag is a felony. This activity steals tags from lawful sportsmen.

5. Early/Late Shooting

Do not shoot at game before or after the designated legal hunting hours. Check the sunset/sunrise and hunts by species table. Sunset does not mean dark! This is a misdemeanor offense. (Refer to sunrise/sunset tables at the back of this book.)

6. Failure to Properly Notch Tag or Permit Immediately After Taking Game

Upon reaching game, immediately validate (punch) the tag or permit with a knife or other sharp object. Marking it with a pencil or pen is not acceptable. This is a misdemeanor

In addition to the criminal penalties, every person who unlawfully kills or possesses wildlife is liable for civil penalties:

- a TROPHY big game mammal – $5000-$30,000

ILLEGAL OUTDOOR MARIJUANA

The past year has shown an increase in illegal outdoor marijuana grow gardens in the Nevada outback. Sportsmen should be aware of their surroundings while utilizing the outdoors. If you observe remote camp sites/ irrigation equipment/marijuana plants leave the area immediately.

Note the location of suspicious activity and contact law enforcement officials. Game wardens work in conjunction with other law enforcement agencies when these grow gardens are found to apprehend the growers, eradicate the plants and rehabilitate the damaged environment.

Operation Game Thief 1-800-992-3030
or DPS 1-866-2REPORT.

BLM INFORMATION

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) in Nevada encourages hunters to call in advance of hunting season to find out if land management practices will be conducted during the hunting season. While BLM field offices are aware of hunting seasons, some management activities, such as prescribed burns, wild horse gathers, road closures or fire restrictions may temporarily disrupt hunting activities.

Call Before You Hunt

If possible, call the appropriate BLM office before you send in your hunt area requests. That way you may avoid an area that may have some access restrictions or other changes because of management activities. It's a good idea to call BLM just before the hunt to find out if any unplanned restrictions from fire or emergency wild horse gathers are in effect.

Responsible Hunting in Wilderness and Wilderness Study Areas (WSAs)

Some units contain BLM lands designated as wilderness or wilderness study areas. Motor vehicle use—trucks, ATVs and motorcycles—is not allowed unless signs are placed to indicate a designated route. The motorized vehicle rule extends to mechanized vehicles such as game carriers, which are also not allowed in these areas. Hand-held GPS units are allowed.

Responsible Off-Highway Vehicle Use

There has been a big increase in the use of OHVs by hunters. While most areas of the public lands are designated as open to OHV use, cross-country travel on OHVs is causing unnecessary damage to habitat that wildlife depend on. OHV riders are asked to stay on existing roads and trails. If it is necessary to drive off roads to retrieve and pack out harvested game, hunters are asked to use care and avoid creating new routes.

INFORMATION RESOURCES

Elk Incentive Tags

Special elk incentive tags are awarded to landowner applicants as an incentive to support an increase in the elk populations in Nevada. Any owner, lessee or manager of private land who wishes to participate in the program may enter into an agreement with the Department that specifies how the landowner will support increases in the local elk herds, and provides that the landowner will agree to provide reasonable public access to adjacent public lands.

Landowners or hunters who are interested in the elk incentive tag program may contact the Nevada Department of Wildlife Headquarters at (775) 688-1507 for more information.

Landowner Damage Compensation Tags

An owner, lessee or manager of private land in this state may apply to the Department for the issuance of deer or antelope tags for compensation for damage caused by these animals.

These tags can be used by the owner, lessee or manager if he holds a valid Nevada hunting license or the tag(s) can be sold to any holder of a valid Nevada Hunting license at any price mutually agreed upon. Any landowner, lessee or manager of private land or any hunter wanting more information on this program should call (775) 688-1507. Please visit the "Incentive and Compensation Maps" page on the NDOW website (ndow.org) for more information.

Weed-Free Hay

The National Forest System requires weed-free hay on all National Forest Systems lands within the state of Nevada. A list of weed-free hay producers and vendors is available on the Nevada Department of Agriculture's website at: <http://agri.nv.gov>. Click on the "noxious weeds" section under the "plant" heading.

HOW TO USE THESE TABLES

Many Nevada hunting regulations restrict the activities to specific times. The laws and regulations may specify sunrise to sunset, one half hour before sunrise to sunset, one hour before sunrise to two hours before sunset, etc.

Consult the specific regulation pamphlet for the activity you are interested in. These are available at all NDOW offices and most license agents. Then use the sunrise/sunset table for the location nearest to your hunt to determine the legally authorized time to start and/or stop your activity. These tables are accurate in the vicinity specified with less than a two (2) minute error. These tables are Pacific Standard Time, so do not forget to add one hour for daylight savings time from March 8 - November 1.

Please Note: A more complete listing of sunrise/sunset tables is available at www.ndow.org.
